

CCA/CTA has made a difference in our profession. The truth is, you won't get the resources and support you need to do your jobs with any other organization. CTA does more than bargain local contracts. Its expert staff monitors and advocates for legislation that benefits faculty and their students; provides ongoing professional development trainings that directly impact faculty; helps local chapters elect "faculty-friendly" trustees; and provides legal, investment and insurance programs.

Community College Association

About Us

CCA is the higher education affiliate of the California Teachers Association (CTA), the largest and most influential professional association of educators in the state with 325,000 members. CCA has become one of the most powerful voices for community colleges at the state level, striving to improve the working conditions of our members and the quality of the community college system.

Nationally, CCA is affiliated with the National Education Association (NEA), the largest public employee association in the country with almost 3 million members.

How Does CCA/CTA Benefit You?

CTA has had a positive influence in the state. CTA led the successful statewide campaign to pass Prop. 30, the first tax increase for education in 20 years. We also defeated Prop. 32, which would have silenced the voices of the Middle Class. CTA was the force behind the passage of Prop. 98, which guaranteed funding for community colleges. CTA sponsored bills to increase our retirement benefits and keep them safe. It continues to defend them against attacks on the secure retirement of faculty

CTA advocated for millions of additional dollars for community colleges from the legislature, especially for categorical programs such as Counseling, Student Success, EOPS, DSPS, and Foster Youth.

In addition to being part of the largest and strongest association of educators in the state and nation, CCA has a dedicated staff that serves community college chapters.

As a member, you have the opportunity to participate in three statewide conferences where valuable training is offered by staff in organizing, bargaining, treasurer's duties and professional development. Members also have access to legal counsel should they ever need it.

Part Timer Rights Matter

It's no secret that part-time instructors are among the most exploited workers in California's community and four-year colleges. Their numbers have increased as colleges look to them as a source of cheap and endless pool of labor. Over the years as their plight has become more visible, part-time faculty started to organize and join their local unions.

"It is time to elevate more part-time faculty to full-time positions, and to provide adjunct faculty with equal pay and paid office hours."

Contingent faculty have been welcomed into CTA's union for years, and have benefitted professionally as a result. CCA/CTA continues to work with adjunct faculty to expand their rights on a statewide and local level.

This year, CCA's primary piece of legislation is a bill guaranteeing employment stability for contingent faculty. We have made and will continue to make campus equity a priority.

Some of the recent accomplishments by CCA's local chapters include substantial salary increases, rehire rights and office hours.

CCA also offers organizing materials and grants for events at our chapters which are intended to raise awareness to the plight of part-time faculty.
